

Edgemont

Thursday, March 12, 2020 Day 4

1. The Animation Club meets TODAY, Thursday, 3/12 at 3:10 pm in E-9. Come join us to learn how To make stop-motion animations! All are welcome. Please email Mrs. Carey at scarey@edgemont.org with any questions.

2. Girls Who Code Club Meeting TODAY, Thursday 3/12 at 3:10 in E5. BYOD or you can use a school Chromebook. (MN)

3. The Animation Club meets TODAY, Thursday, 3/12 at 3:10 in E-9. Come join us to learn how to make stop-motion animations! All are welcome. Please email Mrs. Carey at scarey@edgemont.org with any questions.

4. Volunteer Project Listeners needed to help at the Greenville Science Fair! The event will be held on Friday, 3/13 at Greenville Elementary School. Some 200 students from 2nd-6th grade will present their science projects to our volunteer project listeners from 7:00 pm until 8:30 p.m.

We're looking for juniors and seniors who are interested in gaining some experience or have some sort of STEM interest or background. This is a wonderful opportunity to enhance communication skills, build confidence in providing feedback, and learn the value of asking "What if....?" Additionally, your younger peers will be thrilled to discuss their project with you!

Anyone interested in volunteering should contact PTSA STEM Committee Member Nareen Jabbour by email at njabbour10@aol.com.

5. Pennies for Patients: Take those coins out of your pocket and donate them to the fight against leukemia and lymphoma! Please put your spare change in the container in your first period classroom.

The homeroom with the most money collected today through 3/20 will win a bagel breakfast in April! (LS)

6. CKCC is sponsoring a Lego Drive all this month for patients at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center. Children receiving treatment cannot share toys due to their compromised immune systems so they need individual sets to play with. Please donate a new Lego set and put it in the collection box in the front hallway. If you have any questions, please see Mrs. Forgiore in C3.

7. All those interested in playing Modified Tennis during the spring season, please attend a meeting on Monday, 3/16 at 3:30 in the team meeting room. (AD)

8. Bake Sale after school on Tuesday, March 17, St. Patrick's Day. Hosted by the class of 2023!